Production

Knitting

Our knitting facility has the state of the art machinery with the production capacity of over 30 ton of fabric.

Cutting

Integrating Modern systems and work method we successfully cover the entire process of implementing garment design to final Packing. The cutting area is capable of handling tubular and open end fabrics, professional cutting team implements markers to the specification and tolerance to obtain optimal yields.

Sewing

The Garment Manufacturing area is organized into production cells with dedicated equipment for each product and Specialized personnel for each program. Stitching Operators are well trained to meet the most difficult cut and sew operations.

Finishing

The Finishing and Checking area is strictly monitored for quality assurance criteria.

Packing

The packing area is fully equipped for meeting every product's unique labeling and tagging requirements. Strict controls throughout the process assure the systematic on time delivery of high quality products.

Quality Control

The Quality Control Department has high priority and infiltrates all sections and all production units at all stages of the process collaborate with it. There are quality checks at every stage of manufacturing, starting from yarn selection, knitting, fabric, processing, cutting, stitching and packing. Before the fabric is cut, it is checked thoroughly to confirm that it meets the standard of shrinkage, color fastness, finished GSM etc. After cutting all cut panels are inspected to ensure that only the good quality pieces move to the stitching unit. During the process of sewing each and every process is inspected by inline inspectors. The inspectors make sure that only good parts move to the next stage, an individual tracking number is affixed inside all parts of the garment to control the size and shade. After trimming and pressing, highly experienced final inspectors inspect each garment. The Quality Control team monitors the performance of every individual inspector by picking up the inspected garments and checking the quality of these garments. To ensure that the garments are packed as per the requirements a separate quality inspection team checks and verifies that final package before shipment. Our Quality control system are not restricted to production, We adhere to quality in the fulfillment of all our social and legal obligations and work towards continuous compliance and implementation of national and international labor, Health and safety and Environment pollution standards and regulations.

Basratex believes that to maintain market value there is one way “QUALITY” therefore Basratex ensures our customer satisfaction time to time and believes in quality product and is committed to provide quality products by meeting our customer requirements through continual improvement at every stage of manufacturing process.
